

CHRIS CASTLE LONG WAY TO THE BOTTOM

GOING FOR RADIO ADDS 5.17.24

PRODUCED BY LARRY CAMPBELL

FEATURING: CLOSER THAN ANYTHING, THIS HOUSE & SOMEDAY

Chris Castle signed his first Nashville publishing deal before he was old enough to drive a car. In the three decades since, he has shared stages and studios with artists like Garth Hudson (the Band), Tommy Ramone (the Ramones), Chris Hillman (the Byrds), and Jimmy Webb.

Castle's latest release, Long Way to the Bottom, finds him locked into Milan Hill Studios (just outside of Woodstock) with producer Larry Campbell (Bob Dylan, Willie Nelson) and engineer Justin Guip (Levon Helm, Hot Tuna) for an album that breathes the American experience. The ten-song collection leans heavily on traditional Country and early Rock & Roll, with a focus on compelling lyrics and stellar musicianship.

"These are great songs" says Campbell. "Chris Castle is a hidden gem that shines with diverse life experience". Long Way to the Bottom may finally see that gem unearthed.

"Writing songs is utterly programmed into his DNA"
- Rick Koster (The Day)

"An authentic connection to the world-weary soul of American roots music"
- Jim Vickers (Cleveland Magazine)

"Unique songs of depth and beauty in a voice well textured by life's experiences"
- Tommy Ramone
